Spotlight on...

Playing with wooden blocks!

"If you want to raise a rocket scientist, you don't need to go out and buy that My First Microscope. Odds are, you've already got what you need in your toy box."

This is an interesting article by Daniel Ness who believes that block play is a great way to boost young children's STEM skills (that's science, technology, engineering and maths!)

It's something we at Little Crackers agree with, and that's why your child is given plenty of opportunity to explore a variety of blocks, different sizes and shapes, both inside and outside too!

Dates to put in your diary...

We are hoping that parents will be able to come and share these events with us, however we do need to wait for Government Advice before making a final decision.
